Be it residential, commercial or institutional structures, we have more to offer than the usual with high quality prefabs. Using advanced computer modeling we incorporate cutting-edge designs. Through the unique use of our materials, we provide you with designed prefabs that are economical and easy to transport.

NESTLED IN NATURE

WOODEN PREFABS

Inspired by nature, Wooden Prefabs bring together natural materials to provide a beautiful home that is quick to set up and incredibly affordable.

- Traditional look and feel
- Natural materials instead of synthetics
- Environment friendly
- Aesthetically pleasing
- Materials can be reused

While concrete apartments depreciate in due course, wooden ones see a rise in pricing. Building standards used for log houses are very high today. This means you get a quality home and enjoy great value staying as well. Usually, log homes appraise out much better than traditional homes of the same size. So, you'll end up with more equity in your home, and if you have to sell, you'll make a nice profit too.

Compared to manmade building materials, wooden houses create the natural finish for the homeowner. To add to the naturalness, wood lends you comfortable atmosphere indoors, while wooden floors and walls are always warm and dry to touch. Wood removes humidity from room air when it is damp and returns it when it is dry.
